ABSTRACT

The present invention discloses a method for angiogenesis. The method comprises the steps of electrically stimulating a muscle below the threshold for muscle contraction.